

NEW DODGE CAR IS ON EXHIBITION IN ATLANTA

Machine Attracts Much Attention Among Admirers of Good Cars

The Dodge car has arrived! This car, the announcement of which has been a profound sensation throughout the city because of the many claims it is made for, is on display in Atlanta Wednesday, at the Western Motor Car company, 235 Peachtree street. The firm is the southern agent for the car and had orders booked before the car was out of the factory.

J. H. Gordon, of Detroit, who came with the car from the factory in the west, has been appointed special southern representative of the Dodge Bros. company. Mr. Gordon was the host to a number of newspaper men Tuesday afternoon and after an informal luncheon at the Winceff Hotel, took them for a ride in the new car. It being the machine's first appearance in Atlanta, many admiring glances were turned toward the car as it sped out Peachtree. Drivers of other cars and "motor fans" were much interested in its graceful lines and smooth running qualities.

"The car is built for five passengers and is quite light and easily handled. Every effort has been made, according to local representatives, to give it the highest quality compatible with the low price at which it is sold."

WAR STAMP VIOLATORS NOT TO BE PROSECUTED

Uncle Sam Will Be Lenient This Time Because of Rush

Persons who were unable because of the rush to get in their war tax returns at the official revenue collection time, will have their returns accepted if they can show that they made an effort to make the returns and could not do so because of the rush.

This action was taken by the department of the treasury, following the fears of many persons, including some of the revenue officials themselves, that they would get in trouble for related returns.

Internal Revenue Collector Blacklock, in common with other collectors, received this telegram from Washington:

"Date all special tax returns November 30th until you can handle applications promptly, unless you have information that no effort was made to file same prior to that date. If unable to supply demands for documentary stamps for bills of lading permit shipments to go forward, have records kept and affix or cancel stamps when received."

"Notify railroads."

The government has come to the rescue of the railroads by authorizing collectors to permit shipments to go forward, keep a record of them, and then later, when the stamps are on hand, affix them to the bills of lading.

Some idea of the heavy demand for stamps may be obtained by stating that practically every article in a drug store must be stamped. The bureau at Washington has ruled that certificates issued by a state in the interest of the state are not liable to this taxation.

Great Rush for Stamps
In All of Large Cities

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Internal revenue collectors throughout the country have noted today from the internal revenue bureau that the department does not intend to prosecute any person who was unable to pay the tax on stamps because of a rush to get the new tax stamps. The notice was sent to all collectors and to all persons who have thousands of persons all over the country who yesterday benefited the internal revenue officials in Atlanta in collecting revenue stamps to comply with the law and who because of their inability to do so became frightened over what might happen in the event they were not on the minute with their stamping.

There was no need for such fears and this was made clear in a telegram which Commissioner Osborn, of the internal revenue bureau, sent to all collectors. The telegram was in response to frantic calls from collectors who told of crowds rushing their offices demanding stamps, and it was hoped by officials today that the notice would relieve a situation which gave indication of a serious embarrassment to thousands of persons and which also might have resulted in considerable confusion to railroads and shippers. The telegram is as follows:

"Date all special tax returns November 30th until you are able to handle applications promptly, unless you have information that no effort was made to file same prior to that date. If unable to supply demands for documentary stamps for bills of lading, permit shipments to go forward, have records kept and affix or cancel stamps when received. Notify railroads."

Officials of the internal revenue bureau here explain that while everything possible had been done to get ready to enforce the law they have been hampered in their work because of the failure of congress to appropriate additional money for that purpose. While the stamps have been shipped away as fast as they could be turned out by the bureau of engraving and printing, failure of some collectors to take suggestions from Washington that all applicants be given stamps in sufficient to last a few days and not be permitted to have large quantities, had complicated the situation.

ATLANTANS PLEASED WITH MADAME SCOTNEY
Concert by Opera Stars at Auditorium Tuesday Night Draws Crowd

held on outside grand opera performance such singing as they did Tuesday night at the auditorium. Madame Evelyn Scott, soprano of the Boston Opera company, and Howard White, basso cantante of the same company, were enthusiastically received at every appearance on the program.

The audience was generous with their encores.

Mr. White's voice is distinctly pleasing. He shows equal ease in handling heavy roles as in the rollicking light ones.

Of Mrs. Scott, too much cannot be said regarding her stage appearance and splendid control. She has an extremely high soprano.

Eric Haynes, violin virtuoso, of the Boston Symphony orchestra, and Donald Proctor, pianist and accompanist, are both musicians of ability.

The next of the concerts, which are presented by the Alhambra Lyceum course, will be the Blue and Gray company, in evening and matinee. This concert will be held December 15.

Clarke, and there may be some sales in the city and in the suburbs of Atlanta may need.

Mr. Simms has already distributed thousands of the little stamps among the clubs affiliated with the Federation of Women's Clubs of Atlanta and each of these organizations has agreed to sell its quota in an effort to aid the fight being made to starve out tuberculosis in Georgia. On December 10, Mr. Simms announced that the first sale of stamps will begin and then the most attractive young girls in Atlanta society, public school children and persons generally will be "on the job" in the streets, the shops and in office buildings.

The two injured men were rushed to Atlanta in Barclay & Branson's ambulance.

CARLTON IS EXCORPERATED SLAYER OF CLUBMAN RELEASED ON FINDING OF JURY AT INQUEST

he (Carhart) shouted out to go. Goldsmith below not to go out there, that the man might shoot him.

Carhart stated that after the police came he first looked very casually at the man who was shot, and then he looked at him. He said he saw a dark spot on the man's shirt. He stated that he was probably not far away from the man when he fired. It was brought out that Carhart resided about a mile and a half away from Mr. Callaway's rooms.

Occasionally, he said, Callaway called at the Carhart residence. Mr. Carhart was accused and by Goldsmith, who occupies the apartment below Mr. Carhart in the Wyckoff, was called to the stand.

Mr. Goldsmith began his statement by saying, "It was bright moonlight and unusually warm, and that caused me to wake up. I had been sleeping and I was in the house to change my night clothes. I was surprised when I looked at the clock and came back asking my wife if she hadn't thought I was a negro and I suppose he did, a quarter past 1, I told her."

"I had heard some one moving about upstairs, but had paid little attention. I was sleeping in the southwest corner of the room. I heard a noise and I went to the garage. Again I heard footsteps from the front of the building. I naturally presumed Mr. and Mrs. Carhart were coming in.

About five minutes later I heard loud voices, but I couldn't distinguish what was said. Then I heard one voice running on the porch. Something struck against my awning, and Mrs. Goldsmith remarked, 'Some one must be trying to get down.' Then came the voice of Mr. Carhart, and I suppose he was being held suspended from the cornice, dropped.

PHYSICIAN SUMMONED.
"Then there was a second shot. I thought of my own porch and saw the form trying to move as if trying to turn on his left side. I called across the porch to Oscar Davis and asked him to summon a physician. It was only a minute before the physician arrived. They divided in two squads and took opposite directions around the house, meeting about where the body was.

When they commenced to examine the body, Mr. Carhart looked at it. He seemed to be surprised. I had thought it was a negro and I suppose he did, too."

"How many of these loud voices did you hear?" he was asked.

"I couldn't say that I heard more than one male and one female voice. One of the attorneys asked if he remembered Carhart calling to him not to go out, that he might be shot. The witness said that he did not remember Carhart calling him, but either Mrs. Goldsmith or one of his daughters called to him not to go out until the police arrived. He said he took their advice.

MR. CARHART TURNED PALE.
Mr. Goldsmith repeated to the jury what Mr. Carhart told him after the shooting. Mr. Carhart said, stated Mr. Goldsmith, that Mrs. Carhart, on going into her room and turning on the lights, saw the figure of a man, then calling to Mr. Carhart that it was a burglar, to get his pistol. Mr. Carhart did so, according to what he told Mr. Goldsmith, when a man began to run toward the sleeping porch.

Mr. Goldsmith said he understood Louis Carhart was in Jacksonville. In reply to questions he said that often Louis had friends visiting him at the apartments. Answering a question of Mr. H. M. Goldsmith, Mr. Carhart turned deathly pale when he recognized the body.

Describing Mr. Callaway's attire Mr. Goldsmith said he had on a business suit. Replying to a question, he said Mr. Callaway wore a large signet ring, about as big as a large cuff button. He said he couldn't tell whether or not there was a jewel ring on his finger.

Mr. Goldsmith said, when he first saw the body lying in the court yard, that he and Callaway's wife went in to look at the body. The door, he said, frequently was left unlocked by Mr. Carhart.

"Did Mr. Callaway have a key to your front door?" asked Coroner Donohue.

"Not that I know of," replied the witness. "There were only three keys, my wife's, my son's and my own."

Mr. Carhart answered in the affirmative when asked if Mr. Callaway was a close friend of the family. He was friendly with them, he said, and was a friend of the son's, although how intimate a friend Mr. Carhart said he did not know, as he himself was frequently away from home on business and did not know just when Louis went with in his absence.

The front door was not the only way Mr. Callaway could have obtained entrance to the apartment, said Mr. Carhart. Three empty cartridges were found in the pistol when it was examined later, said Mr. Carhart.

PORCH WAS DARK.
"Two of these I think I fired last week on the plantation," said the witness.

CARLTON IS EXCORPERATED

"leaving the empty shells in the gun. However, I am not sure."

The witness said it was very dark on the porch, no electric light being there, so he could not distinguish the face of the man he shot at. There was a light in his own bedroom and the hall, he said.

Mr. Carhart was then excused. There were no more witnesses called. Dr. Hest explained the nature of Mr. Callaway's wounds to the jury, a bullet in the left shoulder which had ranged close to the heart, and a fractured left ankle, supposed to have been broken in the fall.

In charging the jury Coroner Donohue explained that there was no warrant against Mr. Carhart, and that on their decision would rest the issuance or non-issuance of a warrant. He instructed the jury to turn in one of four verdicts: that the shooting was accidental or was justifiable homicide, or was not accidental or was not justifiable homicide. In the case of either of the two former verdicts being rendered, no warrant would be issued against Mr. Carhart, said the coroner.

CARHART'S STATEMENT.
At police headquarters, Mr. Carhart made the following statement:
"About midnight Mrs. Carhart and I left the Capital City club, where, earlier in the evening we had been, among other friends, Mr. Callaway. We had known him for some years. I suppose he had just stopped for a moment at our table and chatted with us."

"Before going home, we carried in our automobile Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Lewis, Jack Lewis, Graham Phelan and Carl Port to their residences. When we reached the Wyckoff I undressed and got into bed. There was no one else at home, my son, Louis, was in Jacksonville."

"My wife went to the bath room, which is between our room and Louis. As she opened the connecting door, she fell back with a little cry. She said there was a man in Louis' room, and told me to get my pistol."

"I got out my revolver and as I entered Louis' room, I saw the form of a man in the darkness, making, I thought, for the door leading to the back porch. It appeared to me that he had some thing in his hand, like a pistol. Naturally, I thought he was a burglar. Just as any other man would have done, I fired. By this time he had reached the back porch and was climbing over the banisters. I saw him fall outward, and then ran back into my room to call the police. I did not know when I had shot until later, when the man was identified as Mr. Callaway."

JACK LEWIS' STATEMENT.
Jack Lewis, Carl Port and Graham Phelan, who were passengers in the Carhart automobile from the club to the residence, confirmed Mr. Carhart's statement in so far as they were concerned in the club after 1 o'clock.

"Mr. Lewis, local manager for the Dixon Crucible company, 'when the Carharts were leaving. They offered to give us a lift out Peachtree street, and we got in the car. At Tenth street the club earlier in the evening, about 11 o'clock, he was dancing and talking just as all the others were."

Mr. Phelan and Mr. Port said they were leaving the club when they met the Carharts, who offered to take them home. They both stopped at Tenth street and alighted.

Besides his brother, the deceased is survived by his mother, Mrs. Ellen Patton Callaway, and a sister, Mrs. W. C. West Point, Ga., the old family home. The Callaway family is one of the most prominent in Georgia.

Carharts Are Widely Known in Columbus
(Special Dispatch to The Journal)
COLUMBUS, Ga., Dec. 2.—W. B. Carhart, who shot James P. Callaway in Atlanta today, was widely known in Columbus. He married Miss Alice Carnes of this city. Mrs. Carhart has several relatives here. She was a daughter of the late John H. Carnes, of Pine Knot Springs, Ga. Local relatives are demonstrated at the news.

THE WINDOW LOOK IN

An 1894 Nickel

Get one in your pocket! Look at it. Twenty years of circulation have worn it smooth. When that nickel was new, it was worth one street-ride in Atlanta.

Now that it's worn, it still is worth here in Atlanta one street-ride.

Everything's gone up—except your street-car ride. That's cheaper—yes, cheaper—than it was when your 1894 nickel was coined. Two decades have brought you better and faster and more comfortable cars, greater transfer privileges, miles and miles of new track lines that didn't exist then. Your 1894 nickel pays your fare in 1914 from College Park to Decatur, or from Decatur to Emory, or from Bolton to Buckhead, or from Buckhead to East Lake, from East Lake to Druid Hills, or from Druid Hills to Hapeville, or between a score of other extremities of the Atlanta system.

You couldn't be served adequately today by Atlanta's street-car equipment of twenty even years ago. You'd laugh at the man who tries to convince you today's equipment will suffice ten years from now.

We've got to keep growing. That's the foundation of one phase of good service. Growth calls for new investment. That must assure fair return. That's impossible without your good will. To win your good will and keep it, we must give good service. The thing's a cycle.

Would we be so foolish as to break it?

PROPOSALS FOR NEUTRAL ZONES TO BE DISCUSSED

Pan-American Union Board to Consider Protection of Shipping

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Proposals for creating a neutral zone in the waters of the western hemisphere and conserving the rights of neutrals will be laid by United States before the governing board of the Pan-American union, which consists of diplomatic representatives of the twenty-one American republics.

The governing board will meet Tuesday. Secretary Bryan said today all suggestions will be discussed. Argentina, Chile, Peru, Uruguay and Ecuador among the countries which have formally communicated plans for the restoration of shipping in this hemisphere through a more vigorous assertion of neutral rights. The conferences will take the form of an exchange of views by the diplomats.

The general purpose of the meeting is to reach a concord of views on neutral questions so that twenty-one American republics will speak as one voice to the European belligerents whenever new questions arise. There is suggestion for a neutral zone extending the territorial waters from the three-mile limit to include a large area within which the free trade of all nations should be guaranteed. It is not viewed by the United States as probable at present because of the belief that such a move would be misinterpreted by one or more of the belligerents. Such a step could come only from the voluntary action of the states, according to President Wilson's recently expressed view. Officials here believe the project should be pressed by the concert of American nations after the war.

WAR GREAT BOOST TO AMERICAN MUSICIANS

Public at Last Forced to See True Worth of Artists

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 2.—The European war is proving a great boon to American musicians, composers and teachers, according to Dr. Hugh A. Clarke, professor of music at the University of Pennsylvania, who yesterday addressed the annual convention of the Sinfonia Phil. Mus. Alpha fraternity. "The war has been the means of overthrowing the great European fetish," he said. "Formerly no American artist could appear as a soloist with an orchestra unless he could claim foreign birth. The American public is beginning to see the true worth of its artists and will hereafter furnish the support which they have been so long denied."

"Conservatories all report that they have thus far a remarkably successful year. Orchestras are complying with a popular demand by placing mostly American numbers on their programs."

REV. H. T. FREEMAN TO BECOME A BENEDICT

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 2.—Rev. H. T. Freeman, pastor of Ashbury Methodist church, is to take unto himself a bride tomorrow morning. The ceremony is set for 9 o'clock in Ashbury Memorial church, which Mr. Freeman has served for the past four years. He leaves soon to take charge of the church in Baxley, where he is to serve during the coming year. The bride-elect is Miss Anita Lucille Rumph and is a most charming young woman. Many invitations have been extended to the wedding, and it is expected the little church will be crowded with the friends of the bride and bridegroom. Savannah is sorry to lose Mr. Freeman and it is even more regretting that he is to depart, as he carries away with him one so popular as this young man.

Prince of Gratters To Spend Eighteen Months in Atlanta

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Frederick Nugent, long known to the postal authorities as the "supreme ruler" of the "Irish Order of St. Patrick," head of the "Irish Order of St. Patrick," and also as "Chief of the Order of St. Patrick," was sentenced today by Federal Judge Clarence W. Sessions to eighteen months in the Atlanta penitentiary. Nugent pleaded guilty to an indictment charging the use of the mails in the operation of the "Irish Order of St. Patrick."

The prisoner's office in this city was raided on March 14 last. The volume of business was such at the joint possession of the "Irish Order of St. Patrick" and "The Occult School of Science" that Nugent required the services of six clerks to look after his correspondence with dupes, mostly foreigners, in all parts of the country. In the literature sent through the mails the "Irish Order of St. Patrick" was described as a secret organization having rights and powers, and the members were supplied with "lucky stones" at a cost of $1 each, although it was charged they were made of glass and cost Nugent only 12 cents apiece.

FOG SETS NEW RECORD FOR DENSITY AND EXTENT

Heavy Mist Covers Wide Area From New York to Mississippi River

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—A fleet of fifteen ocean liners rocked at anchor in New York harbor, fog-bound in the thickest mist seen in this section of the eastern seaboard for fifteen years. The half-million commuters that come daily from New Jersey, Long Island and nearby New York state points, were delayed from half an hour to one hour before, and placed in the western boundary at the Mississippi river. Officials pronounced it the heaviest fog of the twentieth century.

The local weather bureau said the fog extended over a wider area of country than was ever covered by a single fog before, and placed its western boundary at the Mississippi river. Officials pronounced it the heaviest fog of the twentieth century.

Gauze Muzzles to Stop Kissing Are Suggested To Hygiene Association

(By Associated Press.)
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 2.—"Stop kissing if you can, arrest the spitter, if you will," declared Dr. W. B. Egleston, secretary and treasurer of the National Muzzle Hygiene Association, at the joint meeting of that organization with the American Public Health Association here today.

"Do these things," he added, "and you have made progress; but to give humanity that to which she is entitled from a hygienic standpoint you should have to place gauze muzzles on over 90 per cent of the people. We muzzle dogs to avoid one kind of disease. Why not muzzle man to avoid the many other kinds of disease? It might be ideal, but hardly practical."

BAD TEETH MOST SERIOUS OF PROBLEMS, SAYS WILEY

(By Associated Press.)
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 2.—Bad teeth caused the most serious health problem of the day, according to Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, of Washington, D. C., who discussed that subject here today in an address before the American Public Health Association. A joint session was held with the National Muzzle Hygiene Association of which Dr. Wiley is president. The speaker submitted figures showing that out of 10,000 school children examined in Washington, more than nine thousand had teeth which required treatment.

Today's convention program included consideration of many questions which relate to health and sanitary conditions in American cities. Methods of dealing with the drug evil will be discussed at tonight's session.

PACKERS MAKE PROTEST AGAINST HANDLING MEAT

Shipments to Neutral Countries Stopped by British, Is Charge

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Protests from American exporters—namely western beef packers—against American consignments to Europe being held up by British authorities were discussed today at a conference between Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, and Counselor Lansing, of the state department. The practice of American exporters consigning goods "to order" also was discussed. In all cases of detention so far the department has lodged a formal protest in writing.

The position of the British government is that it has information that Germany is receiving large quantities of supplies consigned through neutral countries. The ambassador pointed out that ships could be relieved of unnecessary search and detention, even when they carried goods consigned "to order" if they would exhibit manifests or produce supplementary statements showing to whom the goods actually were consigned.

The state department is standing on the principle that even semi-contraband goods when carried in neutral bottoms to neutral countries are exempt from interference. This question is in the controversial state and no agreement has yet been reached upon a generally acceptable rule. Meanwhile the British government will try to shorten the period of detention of vessels.

PROGRESSIVES MEET, BUT ROOSEVELT IS ABSENT

California Delegates Will Boost Johnson for President, Is Report

(By Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Progressive leaders from twenty states met today to discuss the future of their party.

Those in attendance included members of the Progressive national executive committee, of which George W. Perkins, of New York, is chairman, and party councils. O. K. Davis, secretary of the committee, said a statement regarding the future program of the party would be issued at the close of the conference.

"Until the views of the various committees are presented and considered," he said, "it will be impossible to state exactly what the nature of the party's program will be."

The impression prevailed among the delegates that the party would not attempt to formulate a policy for the presidential election.

Neither Colonel Theodore Roosevelt nor Governor Hiram Johnson of California, was a presidential candidate in 1912, was present, California, however, was represented by four delegates sent to be prepared to launch a boom for Governor Johnson for president in 1916.

If you want to go to war with Edwin F. Johnson, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, go into the Grand theater any afternoon or evening this week and see that spectacular series of action pictures "On Belian Battlefields." It will be well worth your while, as you will get a close and intimate glimpse of what is going on in the Belgian battlefields that could be had anywhere else unless you personally go to the scene of the conflict, and that's out of the question.

The pictures were shown Monday for the first time in this section and they made a distinct hit because of their unusual realism. You sit in the theater and before your eyes realize that you are in the midst of the conflict. The pictures take you to the front lines, to the trenches, to the battlefields, to the hospitals, to the homes of the soldiers, and to the lives of the people in the rear.

HEATERS ASKS TO BE INOCULATED WITH GERMS OF CANCER

New York Life Convict Offers Himself as Sacrifice for Humanity

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—In a letter to Thomas Mott Osborne, new warden of Sing Sing prison, a life prisoner in the prison at Auburn, New York, offered himself as a sacrifice for inoculating with cancer germs to ascertain whether the disease is contagious. The new warden explained last night. "He erred in Auburn and who was closely associated with reform in Auburn prison stated that he knew the prisoner well and vouched fully for his sincerity."

"He is a man of better than the average education, of refinement and had a family of great estate," Warden Osborne explained last night. "He erred in Auburn and who was closely associated with reform in Auburn prison stated that he knew the prisoner well and vouched fully for his sincerity."

Everything was distinctly Primrose and Wilson. The first George has developed his understanding to dance, the second George has taught them the art of setting away with their jokes and they both let the singing take care of itself. "The first George is the best jokes after all, and the old-time minstrel is the type which one likes to see."

Lee Levinsky Tells Court How Trouble With His Mate Began

Tuesday's session of the divorce mill, which is grinding this week before Judge George L. Holt, was continued by the case of Lee Levinsky, aged fifty-one years, a piano tuner, who secured a first divorce verdict from Mrs. Edna Madison Levinsky, aged twenty-two years.

Levinsky told the stand early in the morning and nervously faced the jury. After telling his name and the date of his marriage, he was asked by his attorney to tell in what way his mate treated him cruelly.

"Well," said Levinsky, "when I met Mrs. Levinsky she was a widow, just twenty-two years old and very pretty. I was quickly infatuated and overcame my wife."

"She said she loved me dearly, and I thought she did."

"However, three days after we were married, she put her arms around my neck and asked how much money I had in the bank. I told her the very modest sum."

"From that minute, gentlemen," continued Levinsky earnestly, to the jurors, "she treated me cruelly, cruelly, cruelly."

"The aged man placed a deeper intonation on 'cruelly' each time he repeated the word. And he smiled as the jury came on laughing."

Levinsky said that one day when he returned from his work he happened to look through the window of his apartment and saw his wife, another woman and a man, still watching them. He said that he was still watching them when he was still watching them.
